Summary of significant agency activities that will continue during a lapse:

The United States Postal Service does not cease operations during any Federal lapse in appropriations as it is funded through a permanent no-year appropriation. In contrast, the U.S. Postal Service Office of Inspector General (OIG) receives an annual appropriation which is derived from the Postal Service Fund and not the U.S. Treasury. The OIG's annual appropriation is no-year funding. Therefore, if previously appropriated no-year funds are available, the OIG will continue operations during a lapse until such funds are depleted.

If funds are not available to continue operations during a lapse, OIG employees performing activities to protect life or property, including law enforcement activities required to ensure the continuity of investigations and prosecutions of entities/individuals that committed fraud and other crimes against the Postal Service's programs and operations will continue, on an excepted basis. Consistent with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) guidance, ancillary support services will be maintained only to the extent necessary to support excepted operations.

Summary of significant agency activities that will cease during a lapse:

Under a lapse in appropriations, the OIG will cease all activities that are not designated as excepted functions, particularly those not reasonably necessary for the protection of life or property, including administrative support for general OIG operations, and others.

Shutdown Procedures:

1. Immediately after receiving notification from OMB, and assuming no funding is available to continue operations, the OIG will:
 - a. Issue furlough letters via e-mail to all non-excepted employees informing them they will be placed in a non-pay status and should not report to work effective the first day of the furlough period.
 - b. Communicate via e-mail to all excepted (retained) employees they should report to work as usual.

- c. Communicate via e-mail to all non-excepted employees on business travel to immediately plan to return home and submit travel vouchers by 12:00 pm of the next business day.
 - d. Put all OIG employees in non-pay status effective the first day of the furlough period.
 - e. Notify the Postal Service (Accounting) to discontinue payment processing immediately.
 - f. Notify all non-essential, non-funded contractors to discontinue work.
2. By 12:00 pm EST, the first business day of the furlough:
- a. Ensure all OIG property is secure.
 - b. Release employees responsible for shutdown to stop work.

Resuming Operations:

1. Employees are instructed to consult the external website, uspsoig.gov and local news media for furlough related messages, including a return-to-work order. Employees can also check their mobile work phones for email updates regarding our operating status.
2. Employees are expected to return-to-work at their designated duty station on their next scheduled workday following the notification to return-to-work.
